Hello September

Fall is just around the corner and we have been learning and playing with our friends here at Discoveryland. We said goodbye to our friends who moved on to kindergarten. We will sure miss them, and wish them the best in their distance learning experience.

We are still here for any of you who needs child care. I know I have brought this up before, but please consider returning to school. We are doing a lot of learning here at the beginning of school. The current students are enjoying being with their friends and teachers, and we are so thrilled to be working with them again. One of our students who has been gone since March gave me the most beautiful smile I have seen in a long time. We thought maybe there would be some tears, but no, only lots of talking and smiling. Of course, this is the first day back, and the transition will be similar to starting all over again. But we are prepared for this and have lots of fun distractions for everyone. I am looking forward to more smiles and stories when your children return. And I hope it is soon.

We are planning on having our new parent orientation still. All the proper social distancing procedures will be observed as well as mask wearing. We ask that you RSVP to the orientation so we can anticipate how many will be here, and plan accordingly.

We have some things going on in October that we would like to be ready for.

Re-registration is in the first of October. Please take the time to re-enroll your child before spaces are filled up.

October 2 is picture day. Your homework teachers will be sending information home in homework folders.

We are off on the 12th for an in-service day.

The 30th is a favorite with the kids. Our annual dress up day! They are so cute all dressed up in their favorite costume. Some of us come dressed up every day, and that's ok too! Individuality is encouraged here.

Thank you to our families who have continued to support our struggling school during this difficult time. We appreciate it and are going beyond to ensure your children continue to learn, grow and enjoy their time here.

May you have a blessed September.

Love,
Ms. Penny, Director
